ACHC Will Continue Valued Partnership With IACP

Cary, NC- Partnerships are special to us at Accreditation Commission for Health Care (ACHC), and we are pleased to announce that our collaboration with one of our most prized partners in pharmacy compounding is continuing.

The International Academy of Compounding Pharmacists (IACP) and ACHC have enjoyed our ongoing partnership for four years.

"IACP is delighted to continue our partnership with ACHC to elevate the practice of compounding pharmacy via PCAB accreditation," said IACP Executive Vice President Scott Brunner, CAE. "Through this agreement, we aim to increase the number of accredited pharmacies across America and to showcase to consumers, policymakers and the media that IACP membership and PCAB accreditation are the marks of excellence and integrity in compounding pharmacy."

The International Academy of Compounding Pharmacists is the voice for compounding pharmacy, representing more than 4,000 compounding pharmacists, technicians, students, and suppliers. Compounding pharmacists work directly with prescribers to create customized medication solutions for patients and animals whose healthcare needs cannot be met by manufactured medications. Thousands of patients and prescribers also belong to our organization via the grassroots advocacy group, Partnership for Personalized Prescriptions, known as P3. IACP's mission is to protect, promote, and advance the art and science of pharmacy compounding.

"ACHC has always valued our partnership with IACP, and we are pleased to continue to be able to offer their members the resources and education that will enhance their ability to foster excellence in pharmacy compounding," said Matt Hughes, ACHC Director of Business Development. "There is great benefit to being aligned with quality healthcare companies, and we are proud to call IACP one of our highly esteemed, loyal partners."

ACHC's Partnership Program allows us to work closely with organizations like IACP that share in the same mission and objectives. We continue to partner with healthcare organizations with different, yet complementary strengths, allowing us to offer providers access to the best industry resources.

ACHC is a nonprofit accreditation organization with CMS Deeming Authority for Home Health, Hospice and Durable Medical Equipment, Prosthetics, Orthotics, and Supplies (DMEPOS), with a Quality Management System that is certified to ISO 9001:2015. We were created for providers, by providers, to deliver a better accreditation experience. Since 1986, ACHC has offered a collaborative and educational approach to accreditation, empowering providers to enhance patient care through service-specific standards and industry best practices.
