Cary, NC- Accreditation Commission for Health Care (ACHC) and RXinsider announce the release of a 12-part video series that addresses questions regarding pharmacy accreditation and compliance solutions. The effort is the most recent addition to RXinsider's Thought Leader Series.

"The collaboration between ACHC and RXinsider offers pharmacies in need of accreditation, state boards of pharmacy, payors, PBMs, and pharmaceutical manufacturers valuable information on compliance solutions," said Tim Safley, ACHC Director, Pharmacy, DMEPOS, and Sleep. "Recognizing the effectiveness of video as an educational platform, these short clips provide pharmacies and industry stakeholders detail on the value of accreditation in a dynamic and more personal platform."

"RXinsider is excited to partner with ACHC through the RXinsider Thought Leader Video Series. The videos within our series provide compelling information to pharmacies and health care stakeholders across a broad spectrum of relevant industry issues. Video is the new wave of audience engagement, and ACHC is at the forefront of educating its audience on the critical value of accreditation," said Chris Kolkhorst, Vice President, RXinsider.

ACHC has taken additional steps to meet market needs by offering specialized Distinctions in Oncology and Infectious Disease Specific to HIV as well as the industry's first Distinction in Hazardous Drug Handling (HDH) compliant with USP <800>. With a comprehensive suite of educational resources, ACHC is also committed to helping its customers maintain continuous compliance.

ACHC is a nonprofit accreditation organization that has stood as a symbol of quality and excellence since 1986.
