

March 26, 2021

Media Contact:

Brooke Renn

(919) 785-1214, ext. 252; brenn@achc.org

For all other inquiries:

(919) 785-1214, (855) 937-2242, customerservice@achc.org

ACHC and AHI Group Partner to Ensure the Highest Quality Home Care

Cary, NC – Accreditation Commission for Health Care (ACHC) announces a new partnership with AHI Group, Inc. (AHI), a membership organization of over 300 independently owned home care agencies with a focus on providing quality care to seniors throughout the United States.

"AHI understands the growing desire of seniors to receive high quality, affordable care while continuing to live in the comfort of their home," said Barbara Provini, ACHC Program Manager. "By partnering with ACHC, AHI is able to offer its members access to education on achieving and maintaining accreditation to support the delivery of safe, high quality care."

The partnership allows AHI and ACHC to offer the best resources to home care agencies, organizations, and individual professionals. AHI members are now eligible for special pricing on ACHC Accreditation, as well as discounts on educational workshops and workbooks to help them prepare for accreditation.

"I have seen the need for senior care services with my own aging family members and my parents have already told me that when the time comes, they want to remain at home rather than going to a facility setting. I have seen first-hand how quality home care services, and the funding to pay for it, can allow seniors to remain independent for as long as possible and we are passionate and committed to providing non-medical care services to seniors across all North America," said Mark Dunning, President and CEO, AHI Group. "AHI Group is proud to partner with an exceptional organization like ACHC to help us navigate compliance in the ever-changing healthcare arena nationwide."

Founded by Mark and Kristy Dunning in 2007, AHI helps families find quality, affordable home care services to help aging relatives remain independent in their own homes for as long as possible. In addition, AHI helps families qualify for funding to pay for their care services through avenues such as the Veterans Administration, Medicaid, life insurance policies, reverse mortgages, and more. In 2010, AHI began offering a turn-key business opportunity focused on helping people start and grow a non-medical home care agency with the support and backing of home care professionals. For more information, visit ahi-group.com.

Accreditation leader ACHC is a nonprofit with 35 years of experience promoting safe, quality patient care. ACHC develops solutions trusted by healthcare providers nationwide and is committed to offering exceptional, personalized service, and a customized, collaborative accreditation experience tailored to individual needs. ACHC focuses on giving providers a positive, educational experience that continually enhances quality of care and business efficiencies. As a national accreditor, ACHC has CMS deeming authority for home health, hospice, home infusion therapy, renal dialysis, and DMEPOS services.

ACHC offers a broad suite of home care compliance solutions, including accreditation for Home Health Aide, Skilled Nursing, Hospice Care, Hospice Inpatient Care, Private Duty Nursing, Private Duty Aide, and Home Infusion Therapy Supplier services. ACHC also offers a series of distinctions to complement its accreditation programs. Distinctions are available in telehealth, palliative care, and behavioral health.

Learn more about accreditation options from ACHC. For information on programs and accreditation pricing, please visit achc.org, email customerservice@achc.org, or call (855) 937-2242, ext. 457.