ACHC and CAHCH Renew Support of Home Care and Hospice Providers

Cary, NC – Accreditation Commission for Health Care (ACHC) announces the renewal of its partnership with the Connecticut Association for Healthcare at Home, a state association that champions home-based, patient-centered care as an integral part of the healthcare system.

Founded by industry leaders, CAHCH provides high-quality, cost-effective home health, hospice, and community-based solutions for providers in Connecticut.

“CAHCH and ACHC are committed to improving access to the highest-quality care and ensuring providers are supported in all facets,” said Susan Mills, ACHC Senior Program Director. “Our partnership allows CAHCH members to continue to demonstrate their dedication to enhancing quality of care and patient safety by achieving and maintaining accreditation. This is especially important because regulatory and payer requirements continue to evolve as we emerge from these tumultuous times.”

The partnership renewal allows CAHCH and ACHC to continue working together to deliver the best resources to home-based care agencies, organizations, and individual professionals across Connecticut. CAHCH members are eligible for special pricing on ACHC Accreditation for home health, hospice, private duty, and home infusion therapy services, as well as discounts on educational workshops and workbooks that can help members prepare for accreditation.

As a leading industry advocate, the Connecticut Association for Healthcare at Home is the industry champion for quality, cost-effective home health, hospice, and community-based solutions. The association advocates for hundreds of agencies, focusing on cost-effective solutions to providing Connecticut residents with patient-centered, quality-driven, community-based care in the comfort of their own homes. Members receive access to a range of education and expert advice on regulatory and procedural concerns. For more information, visit cthealthcareathome.org.
