ACHC and AHHC Renew Support for Providers

CARY, N.C. – Accreditation Commission for Health Care (ACHC) announces the renewal of its partnership with the Association for Home & Hospice Care of North Carolina (AHHC), an association dedicated to supporting home-based care and hospice providers in North Carolina.

“Renewing our partnership with AHHC strengthens our mutual commitment to enhancing quality of care and improving patient outcomes,” said Susan Mills, ACHC Senior Program Director. “AHHC’s support and advocacy empower home-based care and hospice organizations to deliver safe, high-quality care and services.”

“AHHC is passionate about who we serve and our mission, and that is why we are continuing our partnership with ACHC,” said Tim Rogers, AHHC President and CEO. “They were founded with a mission to ensure a voice for providers, as well as a commitment to quality patient care. AHHC advocates for our members who are comprised of home health, home care, hospice, and palliative care providers. By partnering with ACHC, we offer more education, services, and resources for our members.”

The continued collaboration gives AHHC members preferred pricing on ACHC Accreditation. Discounts on ACHCU educational resources also are available.

About AHHC

The Association for Home & Hospice Care of North Carolina is a nonprofit trade association representing providers of home health, hospice, palliative care, private duty, and other home-based care services.

Established in 1972, the association’s mission is to provide resources, education, advocacy, and leadership for its members and the patients they serve. AHHC is recognized as one of the most active and effective home care and hospice associations in the U.S.
