ACHC and KHCA Renew Efforts to Support Providers

CARY, N.C. – Accreditation Commission for Health Care (ACHC) announces the renewal of its partnership with the Kentucky Home Care Association (KHCA), which provides leadership, support, and resources for home-based care providers in the state.

"ACHC and KHCA are dedicated to elevating home-based care organizations to enhance quality of patient care," said Susan Mills, ACHC Senior Program Director. "Extending our collaboration reinforces our mutual commitment to helping providers sustain a culture of continuous improvement."

"ACHC has been a valued partner of the Kentucky Home Care Association for years," said Evan Reinhardt, IAHC Executive Director. "We are happy to keep that partnership going as we continue to connect our members to all that ACHC offers."

The renewed collaboration allows KHCA members to continue receiving preferred pricing on ACHC Accreditation for home care, home health, hospice, and palliative care services and ACHC Telehealth Certification. Discounts are also available on select resources offered by ACHCU, the education division of ACHC.

About KHCA

KHCA is an association of member home care provider agencies who value the home as a therapeutic environment for the care of patients. To support this value, we join together those striving to improve the availability and quality of this care with those who advocate for, establish public policy regarding, regulate, and pay for care at home.

KHCA also hosts an annual conference for home care providers. For more information on KHCA and the conference, visit khca.net.

About ACHC

ACHC is the nation's top provider of accreditation for home health and hospice agencies. ACHC offers a wide range of accreditation options for home-based care providers and has CMS deeming authority for home health, hospice, and home infusion therapy services.

ACHC develops solutions for healthcare providers worldwide and remains committed to delivering a customized, collaborative accreditation experience.
