ACHC Continues Strategic Partnership with R.J. Hedges

CARY, N.C. – Leading accreditor Accreditation Commission for Health Care (ACHC) announced today it is renewing its strategic partnership with R.J. Hedges & Associates, a trusted leader in independent pharmacy compliance solutions.

“Independent pharmacies and DME suppliers are navigating increasingly complex requirements, often with limited time and resources,” said Caroline Girardeau, ACHC Program Director. “This continued partnership helps bridge that gap by pairing ACHC’s accreditation standards with practical guidance pharmacies can actually use. Together, we help organizations move beyond checking boxes and toward building sustainable, compliant operations that support safe patient care.”

“ACHC has been a valued partner for many years, and we are excited to renew our collaboration,” said Becky Templeton, Director of Operations at R.J. Hedges & Associates. “Our teams work closely together to support independent pharmacies and DME facilities as they navigate CMS requirements, accreditation, and ongoing compliance. We especially appreciate ACHC’s review and certification of our Non-Sterile Compounding Program and the shared commitment we have to providing practical, trusted resources for our clients.”

This collaboration gives R.J. Hedges & Associates clients special pricing on ACHC Pharmacy Accreditation, including PCAB, Specialty Pharmacy and Community Retail (DMEPOS). Discounts on select ACHCU educational resources are also available.
