ACHC and Lumicera Partner to Support Specialty Pharmacy

CARY, N.C. – Leading accreditor Accreditation Commission for Health Care (ACHC) announced today it is forming a strategic alliance with Lumicera Health Services, LLC, a leading specialty pharmacy organization focused on improving patient outcomes through personalized care and innovative medication management.

“This new partnership allows us to extend our education-first accreditation approach to specialty pharmacies that are focused on delivering complex therapies safely and effectively,” said Caroline Girardeau, ACHC Program Director. “Lumicera works closely with health systems to build and optimize specialty pharmacy services, and this collaboration helps ensure those programs are supported by clear standards, practical guidance, and accreditation resources that align with real-world pharmacy operations.”

“Partnering with ACHC enables us to deliver even greater value to our partners through enhanced education, accreditation resources, and industry expertise,” said Brandon Raynor, Accreditation Product Manager at Lumicera Health Services. “This collaboration strengthens our commitment to quality and innovation in pharmacy services, ultimately helping us provide safer, more effective care and better outcomes for the patients we serve.”

As part of the partnership, Lumicera partners are eligible for preferred pricing on ACHC accreditation programs, including Infusion Pharmacy and Specialty Pharmacy, as well as discounts on select ACHC educational resources.
