ACHC and Interim HealthCare Partner to Support Quality Across Home-Based Care

CARY, N.C. (May 4, 2026) – Leading accreditor Accreditation Commission for Health Care (ACHC) announced today a partnership with Interim HealthCare, a national network of independently owned franchise locations delivering home health, hospice, and home care services across the United States.

“As care continues shifting into the home, providers are balancing growing demand with complex regulatory expectations,” said ACHC Program Director Susan Mills, RN. “This partnership connects Interim HealthCare franchise locations with ACHC’s collaborative accreditation approach, practical guidance, and educational resources to help organizations strengthen quality systems while continuing to deliver compassionate care in the home.”

Through this collaboration, Interim HealthCare franchise locations will have access to ACHC accreditation programs for Home Health, Hospice, and Home Care, along with resources designed to support regulatory readiness, operational excellence, and continuous quality improvement.

As demand for care delivered in the home continues to grow, partnerships that emphasize strong quality standards and operational excellence play an important role in supporting providers and ensuring positive patient outcomes.

About Interim HealthCare

Founded in 1966, Interim HealthCare is a national network of independently owned franchise locations that provide a comprehensive range of healthcare services and staffing solutions.

The company offers the full continuum of care, including home healthcare, personal care services, hospice care, and healthcare staffing. Interim HealthCare combines the commitment of local ownership with the support of a national organization dedicated to advancing quality standards and improving the delivery of care in the home.
