ACHC and DDP Medical Supply Form New Collaboration

CARY, N.C. –Leading national accreditor Accreditation Commission for Health Care (ACHC) announced today it is partnering with DDP Medical Supply, a leading wholesale provider of medical supplies and equipment.

“DMEPOS suppliers need partners who understand that reliability is not a nice-to-have,” said Deborah Panza, ACHC Associate Program Director. “Correct orders, timely delivery, flexible product access, and responsive support all affect how smoothly a business can run. DDP Medical Supply brings that practical understanding to this collaboration, and it aligns well with ACHC’s focus on helping suppliers build stronger, more consistent operations.”

“ACHC and DDP are aligned on the same goal — helping DME providers operate at their best. This collaboration felt like a natural fit,” said Brett Siegal, Director of Marketing & Business Development at DDP Medical Supply. “Our goal has always been to make it easier to run a successful DME business, and the discount is a tangible way we can support providers who are committed to doing that.”

Through this collaboration, DDP Medical Supply clients can receive special pricing on ACHC DMEPOS Accreditation. Discounts on select ACHCU educational resources are also available.

About DDP Medical Supply

DDP Medical Supply is a national wholesale distributor of diabetes devices and CGM systems serving DME providers across the country. With no billing involvement and no conflicts of interest, DDP gives providers a clean, reliable supply partner focused entirely on helping them grow. DDP also offers custom marketing materials — from branded flyers to patient education pieces — designed to strengthen sales efforts and patient engagement without adding extra work.
